New York Stock Market

New York, February 7.—At the close of an uncertain day on the Stock Exchange prices as a whole showed few important changes from final quotations of the previous day. The market was lifeless and without decided tendency, and fluctuations were confined to narrow limits throughout. An accession of strength in the final hour lifted the market out of its apathetic condition and forced up quotations to a point which compensated for earlier losses. The closing was active and strong.

During the most of the day a reactionary trend was evident, although the support which the market received on each setback prevented any extensive losses, and gave the impression that substantial backing was being offered to maintain the present improved level. Such heaviness as developed was attributed, for want of a better reason, to Wall Street's fear of the proposed extra session of Congress in case of the fallure of the present session to take final action on the Canadian treaty, which might open the way for the further adjustment of the tariff. It is more likely, flowever, that the temporary setback was due to the fact that the market has been filled with long stock during the recent advance, and that the process of liquidation, which is still under way, is making its effect felt more plainly with the diminishing absorption power which has resulted. Heaviness of the metal stocks, which was accompanied by a sharp decline in copper prices in Loudon, presumably was due to expectations of an unfavorable monthly report from the Producers' Association to morrow.

A large increase in supply is looked During the most of the day a reac-

A large increase in supply is looked for, despite the understanding that production was to be curtailed. From Fall River came reports of steady curtailment in the output of cloth mills, and from North Carolina news that the cution manufacturers of that State at cotton manufacturers of that State, at a meeting to-morrow, would consider the advisability of reducing their out-

The better tone which prevailed in the late trading doubtless was due in part to the belief that the Bank of England's discount rate might be lowered to-morrow.

The bond market was steady. Total sales, par value, $4,006,000. Total sales of stocks to-day were 553,900 shares.

New York. February 7.—Money on call steady: 1 3.4 @ 2 3.8; ruling rate, 2 3.8; closing bid. 2; offered at 2 3.8. Time loans strong; sixty days, 3 per cent., and ninety days, 3 1-4 @ 3 1-2; six montrs, 3 3-1. Prime mercantile paper, 4 @ 4 1-2 per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.833 @ $4.835 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.82 1-2 @ $4.83. Bar silver, 52. Mexican dollars, 45.

Ihree Wise

Last week executed their wills, naming this company executor, and provided further that the Virginia Trust Company should hold their estates in trust for their wives and children.

To those who might not understand what this means, we explain that at the death of these parties we qualify as their executors and settle the estates according to law. Then this Company, through its Board of Directors and Finance Committee, invests the funds and prudently manages the estates, and turns over to the beneficiaries the income every three or six months. And our capital of one million dollars is a guarantee that our duties will be faithfully performed. Can we further explain to you?

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Oldest House in Giles County, and Contents, is Burned.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Roanoke, Va., February 7.—Fire destroyed the oldest house in Giles county on Saturday night. It was the home of Mrs. Edward C. Hale, at Pearisburg, and it is said by old people in that section that the residence is from 175 to 200 years old. The house was built of tion that the residence is from 175 to 200 years old. The house was built of logs, but in late years had been weath-erboarded and otherwise modernized. The framing was put together with wooden pins, and all metal nails were those wrought at the blacksmith shop. The house caught from a defect in the on the second floor, and there being no on the second noor, and there being no fire-fighting apparatus near, the flames soon destroyed the house. All of the contents were lost except a few things on the lower floor, and these were considerably damaged in removing them. The celear under the main part of the house was stored with fruits and vegetables all of which were lost. There tables, all of which were lost. There was some insurance, but it is not thought the amount will go far towards covering the loss.
